Students... Prepare to Save Gas

by John Shiffert, University Relations

Here's a riddle, one with hopefully a happy ending.

Which will come first... $5 a gallon gas, or the opening of Clayton State University's new student housing?

Actually, there's no guarantee that the price of gas will stop at the $5 mark. However, Clayton State's first on-campus student housing is scheduled to open in August, with the building's dedication set for Tuesday, Aug. 12 and the first students moving in on Thursday, Aug. 14.

After 39 years, Clayton State is becoming a residential campus, and just in time to save a bunch of students from burning up the contents of their wallets in their gas tanks. While the University's student body has always drawn heavily from Clayton, Henry and Fayette counties, it still can take a good (or maybe bad) 30 minutes of driving to get to the Clayton State campus from McDonough. For that matter, it's still 15 or 20 minutes from parts of Jonesboro and, if you should happen to live in Newnan or Jackson, well, get ready for 45 minutes to an hour on the road. Even at 30 miles per gallon, that's $50 a week in gas when we hit the $5 standard. (Today, it's "only" $40 a week.)

However, that will all be a thing of the past come Aug. 14 as 450 beds in the new student housing facility will become available to Clayton State students. Along with the also-soon-to-be-completed student activities center, the student housing is funded by a bond project with the Development Authority of Clayton County the issuing agency. The cost of the entire bond project for student housing and the student activities center is approximately $42 million, with $38 million of hard cost -- $21 million for the student housing and $17 million for the student activities center. The buildings are owned by Clayton State University Foundation Real Estate I LLC, and leased to the University System with the lease payments coming from housing rental for the student housing facility and student activities fees for the student activities center.

The student housing is the largest building on campus, with 451 beds in 108 units on four floors. Included in the building's

Staff Appreciation a Double Success

by Erin Fender, University Relations

The Clayton State University Staff Council expanded the annual Staff Appreciation Day to two days of fun for 2008.

"Both days were filled with laughter and inspiration. We had a very successful turnout for each event," says Bob Ward, Staff Council chair.

Motivational speaker Mike Robbins spoke with staff on Tuesday, June 3 in Spivey Hall. A left-handed pitcher in the Kansas City Royals' minor league system from 1995 to 1997, Robbins has been a motivational speaker, author and coach since an injury ended his playing career at age 24.

He spoke passionately with hints of humor on reminding everyone to appreciate the now, to take time appreciate co-workers, family, friends and, most importantly, themselves.

He encouraged everyone to start with these three simple steps: 1) create a daily practice to appreciate yourself; 2) when gathering as family, friends, or co-workers take time to say what you appreciate; and 3) start receiving complements more successfully by just saying thank you sincerely.

On Wednesday, June 4, the staff had a laughter-filled afternoon with a carnival. The staff was treated to games, prizes and lunch. Plenty of sweets including cotton candy, funnel cakes and snow cones fueled the afternoon festivities.

"It's important that we are all reminded that we are worth the effort for these events; that everyone is worth being shown appreciation," says Ward. ■

Clayton State to Install Emergency Alert Siren System

by John Shiffert, University Relations

Clayton State is in the process of installing an emergency alert siren system on campus.

The sirens will be located in two places, one near the Athletics & Fitness Center on the west side of campus, and the other near the Maintenance Building on the far eastern side of the campus.

The system consists of an audible siren as well as a pre-recorded message system. It will be used for extremely severe weather warnings, such as impending tornadoes in the area, and will also be able to provide some basic instructions, such as “take shelter immediately.”

The alert system will also be set up to warn of possible threats on campus, such as an armed intruder. Warnings for these contingencies will include instructions that could include directions to evacuate or lock down a building.

According to Lieutenant Rex Duke of the Clayton State Office of Public Safety, testing of the system should be held within the next few days, and it is expected to have the system on line and fully operational before fall semester begins in August. The public and the campus will be notified of the exact test date for the system.

Duke also notes that the siren system is one of several security measures being added to the campus to further insure that the University continues to provide a safe environment for students, faculty, staff and visitors.

“In addition to the new siren alert system, we have added additional emergency phones throughout the campus,” he says.

Additional security measures are also in the planning stages. ■

Clayton State Women’s Forum Awards $6K in Scholarships

by Erin Fender, University Relations

The Clayton State University Women’s Forum recently awarded eight students scholarships totaling $6,280.

“All of the scholarship recipients have above average grade point averages and participate in other student and community activities,” explains Debra Cody, R.N., M.S.N., assistant professor of Health Care Management, and Women’s Forum scholarship chair.

A committee consisting of three people, Lou Brackett, assistant professor of Office Administration in Clayton State’s College of Professional Studies, Katrina Barnes, R.N., M.S.N., assistant professor of Nursing and lab coordinator, and Cody. They reviewed each of the 10 applications received.

A general student success scholarship valued at $1,000 was awarded to two students; Melissa Jean-Louis of Hampton, Ga., a dental hygiene major, and Lauren Hutchison, a nursing major from Jackson, Ga.

Emergency Student Success Scholarships were awarded to six students. Two of these students were awarded scholarships in August 2007 and graduated in December 2007. Callie Rumph, an accounting major from Jonesboro, Ga., was awarded a $1,000 scholarship. Deborah Hernandez from Stockbridge, Ga. received a $530 scholarship and was an accounting major.

Two nursing majors, Tammy L. Green of Jackson, Ga., and Christina Roscoe of Atlanta, Ga., along with Kechia Burnett a middle grades education major from Stockbridge, Ga., were awarded scholarships valued at $750. LaTanya Price, a middle grades education major from Hampton, Ga., was awarded a $500 scholarship.

The purpose of the Women's Forum is to promote the educational, career and scholarship development activities of women through programming, mentoring, and advocacy. Funds for the scholarships are raised through a silent auction and chili cook off that are held in the fall. ■

Third Annual New Student Convocation & Reception, Aug. 26

The Third Annual New Student Convocation will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 26 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. This ceremony will inspire, motivate and officially welcome new students to Clayton State. Per faculty feedback regarding last year's program, we will return to academic regalia for this year's event. Please allow eight-10 weeks for turnaround time if you plan to order or rent regalia. Contact the University Bookstore or LindaCampbell@Clayton.edu for additional ordering information.

The program will provide an opportunity for students to connect with their faculty, staff and classmates. Faculty support at last year's event was phenomenal. Approximately 140 faculty and staff and 240 students were in attendance for the program. Your continued support and assistance is greatly needed and appreciated.

Look for additional information regarding this event in the near future. If you have questions, contact CelenaMilner@clayton.edu or call (678) 466-544 ■

Clayton State Biology Professor To Appear on History Channel Series

by Erin Fender, University Relations

Dr. Jared Tagliatela, a research associate at the Yerkes National Primate Research Center and new assistant professor of biology at Clayton State University, will appear in a new series, Evolve, on The History Channel.

The new History Channel Series will feature 13 episodes and will air summer 2008. Each episode will discuss features and behaviors and how each has evolved in modern animals. Tagliatela will be featured in an episode covering the evolution of communication.

Tagliatela was most recently a lead researcher on a study involving the use of positron emission tomography (PET) to monitor the brain activity of chimpanzees during communicative behavior with results indicating a close relationship to humans.

This study, co-authored by Tagliatela, was published in the journal, Current Biology in March 2008. It was partially presented at the "Mind of the Chimpanzee" conference in Chicago, in March 2007.

Earlier this year, he organized a workshop on ape communication that was held at the Seventh Evolution of Language Conference held in Barcelona, Spain. Tagliatela also provided introductory remarks at the workshop.

Tagliatela's History Channel segment was filmed on Clayton State University campus on June 5. An air date for the episode featuring Tagliatela is still to be determined. ■

Clayton State Archives Wants To Know...

Yes, there is an Archives for Clayton State University. It is located in the library. The Clayton State Archives is charged with the responsibility of collecting and preserving the history of Clayton State University.

Each issue of the Campus Review will feature an item, photo, or event from the collections in the Archives. These items have no accompanying information. The Archives would like to collect data and associated artifacts for these "mystery" items.

Cheerleaders

- Does Clayton State University have cheerleaders?
- Has Clayton State always had cheerleaders?
- If Clayton State has cheerleaders, who are they?
- Does anyone have a roster of the cheerleaders from year-to-year?
- Does anyone have photographs of the cheerleading squad, past and/or present?

If you can provide answers to these questions or have additional information on this particular item, please email Rosemary Fischer, University Archivist, at rosemaryfischer@clayton.edu.

The Clayton State Archives thanks you for your help. ■

Across the Campus...

Admissions

Clayton State bids farewell and good luck to Scott Burke, former director of Admissions. Burke leaves Clayton State for a career at sister USG institution, Georgia State University.

Athletics

With the 2008 outdoor track and field season officially concluded, the Clayton State Lakers took two postseason awards recently from the United States Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA). Junior Ahmad Rolle earned USTFCCCA South Region Athlete of the Year honors, while Clayton State assistant coach Clive Caesar won South Region Assistant Coach of the Year.

Auxiliary Services

While construction to convert the existing Lakeside Cafe and former University Bookstore space into the Lakeside Dining Hall is on-going, it should be noted that the current Lakeside Café is still in operation, despite an increase in noise around the area and some funny smells created from the plumbing and electrical work being done. Under the present construction, the former bookstore space will become the dining room, and the former bookstore stockroom will become the dish room and additional storage. The current servery will be updated to improve service and access to food. As work continues, campus will be updated on changes or interruptions in service. Remember, Jazzman's Cafe will be open throughout the summer to serve your dining needs.

Bursar's Office

In preparation for the end of the fiscal year, the Bursar's Office is asking all cash-receiving departments and locations to have their final deposits in for the year by noon on June 27, 2008. The Bursar's Office will close at 2 p.m. that afternoon and will be closed on Monday, June 30. Banner will also be down on June 30 for all users across campus in order to get all accounts reconciled and balanced as required by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. The Banner system will be back for all users on Tuesday, July 1.

Campus Life

Beginning June 4, Housing staff will begin conducting daily tours of the new student housing, Monday through Friday. Tours are available from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Current students, incoming students, parents, faculty and staff are invited to tour the new facility with Housing representatives. The tour will include information about the facility, amenities and features. The tour will also include the viewing of one suite that is identical to where students will reside. Tours begin at the Information Desk in the Baker Center. Individuals seeking an opportunity to tour are encouraged to make a reservation by calling the Housing office at (678) 466-4663.

Graduate Studies

The Clayton State University School of Graduate Studies will be holding its next monthly informational Open House on Tuesday, June 10 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in room 201 of the University's Harry S. Downs Center. The Open House will give prospective graduate students a chance to learn more about the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies, Master of Business Administration, Master of Health Administration, and Master of Science in Nursing. The Clayton State School of Graduate Studies regularly holds open houses on the second Tuesday evening of each month.

Grant and Contract Programs

The Department of Health & Human Services Division of Cost Allocation (DCA) has entered into a new indirect cost rate agreement with Clayton State University. This agreement reflects an understanding reached between the University and DCA concerning the rate(s) that may be used to support claims for indirect costs on grants and contracts with the Federal government. Clayton State's predetermined indirect cost rates for the period July 1, 2008 to June 30, 2010 are 46.3 percent on-campus and 20 percent off-campus, and are applied to salaries, wages and benefits. The new rate agreement letter is posted on <http://adminservices.clayton.edu/grants/default.htm>.

OITS

According the OITS VP Dr. John Bryan, that technical school on 14th Street in Atlanta will become a Notebook University in August of 2008. Instead of a desktop computer, Georgia Tech will require all students to own or lease a notebook computer. And to think it only took them 10 years after Clayton State did it in January 1998.

Payroll

As per the payroll schedule, we are asking for the next timesheet (for time worked May 31 to June 13, with estimated time as necessary) to be turned in by 9 a.m. on Monday, June 9. Also, with this being a combined Monthly/Biweekly payroll, all June PAFs and benefit changes are due on Friday, June 6. With your help, this will enable us to close out our books for the fiscal year end by June 30.

Recreation & Wellness

The summer hours of operation for the Student Weight room are M-F, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The facility will close Aug. 1, 2008 so that preparations can be made for the move to the Student Activities Center.

The Department of Recreation & Wellness would like to extend an invitation to Clayton State employees to jump on the wellness bandwagon and make plans now to utilize the new fitness center within the Student Activities Center. Membership prices will be reasonable at a rate of $23 per month (individual plan) with a 12-month commitment ($275/yr). The semester rate for the individual plan will be $100 and the "monthly-pay-as-you-go-at-the-front-counter" rate will be $30 per month. Payroll deduction will be available and you are strongly encouraged to take advantage of this convenient option. More information will be forthcoming explaining the facility amenities and prices for the companion and family plans.

Lydia Adkins (nee Vanderford) is leaving Clayton State for a position at Luella Middle School where she will be working in the position of Special Education Collaborative Teacher. Adkins joined the SmartBodies staff in 2002 and has done a great job with a number of responsibilities but most notably has taken care of variety of patients in the "New Directions" Rehab Fitness Therapy Program. Her final day of work at Clayton State is scheduled for Friday, June 27.

School of Business

Clayton State University Assistant Professor of Economics Dr. Nikki Finlay will be serving as a panelist at the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce Business to Business Luncheon on Monday, June 9. The luncheon will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the third floor conference room of Kaiser Permanente, 2400 Mt. Zion Pkwy., Jonesboro, Ga. The topic for the luncheon is "Business Preparation: How to Survive in Today's Economy." In addition to Finlay, Leonard Moreland, CEO of Heritage Bank and vice chair of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton State University Foundation will also be serving on the panel. Each panelist will have five to 10 minutes for general remarks about the topic with a Q&A to follow.

The HUB

The Hub was featured in the State of Georgia's May Customer Service Newsletter, published by the Governor's Customer Service Office.

Clayton State Student Housing Tours Begin!

DAILY!

Student Housing representatives are now conducting tours of the nearly completed facility Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Current students, incoming students, parents, faculty and staff are invited to tour the new facility. Lakers Finish 12th in Nation

Redecsi, Chergova Selected ITA Division II All-American For Second Straight Season

by Lee Wright, Sports Information

Clayton State's Julia Chergova and Anna Redecsi were honored by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) as Division II All-Americans in women's tennis for the second straight season.

The duo was selected for doubles after another stellar season as the Lakers' top doubles team, while Redecsi was also selected for singles. It's the third time overall that Chergova has been selected ITA Division II All-American for doubles, having been previously selected last season and in 2005. She becomes the first three-time All-American in women's tennis at Clayton State.

Redecsi was selected ITA Division II All-American for doubles for a second straight season, and her first season in singles.

Redecsi played at No. 1 all season for Clayton State in singles, posting a mark of 17-4 overall and 7-2 in the Peach Belt Conference. She started the season ranked 15th in the nation in Division II, and finished the season ranked 11th in Division II.

Redecsi and Chergova once again proved themselves as one of the top doubles teams in the nation for Division II. They repeated as ITA Division II Mid-Atlantic Regional champions last fall, and advanced to the semifinals of the ITA Division II National Championships. This season, they went 19-4 overall and 8-1 in the Peach Belt Conference, ranked seventh in the nation in the final Division II rankings.

Following a record-setting 2008 season which included the single-season record for victories, the first 20-win season in program history and an NCAA Division II National Tournament berth, the Clayton State Lakers finished the season ranked 12th in the final ITA Division II National Top 40 poll.

It's the highest national ranking for a Clayton State team in women's tennis since the 2001 and 2002 Laker squads both finished 10th in the nation in Division II. Head coach Tamas Szabados' second season at the Clayton State helm resulted in a 20-6 mark, including 8-1 in the Peach Belt Conference. ■

Clayton State Finishes Fourth in 2007-08 Peach Belt Conference Commissioner's Cup

The Peach Belt Conference has officially released the final standings for the 2007-08 Commissioner's Cup, and Clayton State finished a strong fourth place in the final 11-member standings. The Lakers finished with 49 out of a maximum 72 points for a percentage rating of .681.

This marks the fourth straight year that Clayton State has placed in the Top four in the Peach Belt Commissioner Cup standings. The Lakers finished behind overall champion Columbus State (.739), Armstrong Atlantic (.708) and USC Aiken (.698).

Clayton State won two conference regular season championships during the 2007-08 athletic season in men's soccer and women's basketball. In addition, the Lakers also finished second in men's cross country, men's golf and women's tennis. ■

Trivia Time

Son of a Gun

by John Shiffert, University Relations

Mick Jagger may or may not have watched himself cavort (more on that shortly) in Carly Simon's "You're So Vain," but the Simon & Schuster heiress didn't think much of him in any case. Before she starts singing "You're So Vain" Simon twice whispers (you have to listen closely to hear it) "son of a gun."

Now, there were certain things you couldn't say on the radio in 1972, so everyone pretty much knew what Simon was really saying. As did, drum roll please, Kelly Adams.

The second part of last issue's question asked what other singer/songwriter of that same era had "issues" with Jagger. While Adams rightly pointed out that Marianne Faithfull didn't think Mick was too awful faithful (in light of their tempestuous relationship), the singer/songwriter best-known for disliking Jagger was Don McLean... "And as I saw him on stage, my hands were clenched in fits of rage."

Finally, Dr. B.D. Stillion, who always has something of relevance to say on trivial matters, insists that, in the first verse of "You're So Vain," Simon actually is rhyming "gavotte," not "cavort," with apricot. A gavotte is, in case you're interested, a French peasant dance. Now, as to whether or not Jagger knows how to gavotte...

Well, enough of the most famous dropout from the London School of Economics. Where and how did John Quincy Adams take his morning exercise when he was president? Send your answers to johnshiffert@clayton.edu.

Sports

Larry Earns All-American Honors At NCAA Track and Field Championships

by Maggie Shiffert, University Relations

In March 2008, Clayton State's Kim Larry started the outdoor track and field season about five seasons after quitting the sport.

However, she made improvements over a short period of time during the current season. She ended the day on May 24 by earning All-American honors in the women's high jump at the NCAA Division II Outdoor Track and Field Championships. Larry, from Tupelo, Miss., who joined the Lakers track and field after finishing basketball season, finished fifth overall in the high jump and earned All-American honors.

Larry jumped 5-feet-8-inches, tying with Whitney Hendershot from Slippery Rock, Lynn Mayer from East Stroudsburg, and Jennifer Robinson from Emporia State. She was 1 ¼ inches away from the winning height, 5-feet-9 ¼ inches, by Lincoln's Notoya Thompson.

Larry wasn't the only Laker who made it to the NCAA championships. Clayton State's Ahmad Rolle almost won All-American honors as well in the men's triple jump. Rolle, from Nassau, Bahamas, was close to getting eight place, but finished in ninth, with a jump of 48-feet-5 ¼ inches... two inches away from placing eighth and earning All-American honors.

Eric Simmons also had an unlucky finish in the men's 400-meter dash. Simmons, from Carrollton, finished in 13th in the preliminaries, four-one hundredths of a second off of qualifying for the finals with a time of 47.90 seconds.

Another student from Clayton State just missed the chance of earning All-American. Allison Kreutzer came close to earning the Division II All-American honors in the women's 10,000-meter run. This would have been her second straight season of earning the Division II All-American honors. Kreutzer earned the Division II All-American honors in both the 5,000-meters and the women's 10,000-meters in 2007. Kreutzer finished in 12th place with a time of 36:27.07 seconds at Hilmer Lodge Stadium. Kreutzer's race was delayed three hours because of very bad weather, meaning she didn't start her race until approximately 11 p.m. Pacific Day Time, or 2 a.m. Morrow time.

Keisha Etienne was also close to qualifying for finals in the women's 400-meter hurdles. She finished in 14th place in the preliminaries with a time of 1:03.41 seconds. ■
