

Young Artists

Directed by Craig Hurley
Accompanist, Marcena Kinney

Founded in the fall of 2002, the Spivey Hall Young Artists features 60 students ages 10 through 13.

Under the direction of Craig Hurley, this preparatory choir performs a wide range of repertoire and equips singers with the skills they need to participate in the Spivey Hall Children's Choir. Additionally, the singers progress during the year in both sight reading and music theory with each student encouraged to reach their own personal best.

Auditioning to move into the Children's Choir reveals the skills they have acquired while in the Young Artists program. This ensemble performs one concert in December and one concert in May.
