

Hoarding Statements from the Spring 2010 Graduate Hoarding Ceremony

Master of Health Administration

Stacey Harris

Being a student in the graduate degree program at Clayton State University has been a realization of yet another rewarding educational milestone in my life. It has allowed me the opportunity to grow both academically and professionally. I've had the pleasure of renewing past friendships and creating new ones as I've moved through this program. I have truly enjoyed being a student in the Health Administration program.

Earning an M.H.A. degree from Clayton State University means so much to me. It has allowed me to fulfill an important educational goal as well as being able to work in a field that I love. I am proud to have completed the program and welcome all new possible career opportunities.

Most of the professors in the healthcare administration degree program are leaders in their particular fields, but they are willing to listen to ideas that are different from their own. The network has already proved to be invaluable, as I've witnessed through the many alumni (professors) who have been willing to help me and offer advice throughout my time at Clayton State University. This real-world focus on management skills, leadership and advocacy will help me advance in today's complex health care environment. The convenient course schedule allowed me to continue working while earning my MHA degree. Thanks Clayton State!

Sha-Ron Rosignon

The MHA program has been a tremendous challenge. I had to learn "how" to do research, work within teams, find my way around the obstacles that often come with working in teams, and communicate results. It was a test of creativity, tenacity, interpersonal skills, and patience. If the goal is important enough to you, these obstacles will not prevent you from completing your journey. It was my honor to travel through the program—I have arrived.

Master of Business Administration

The professors at Clayton State truly want their students to learn and grow. They go above and beyond when needed and I thank them for that. I have and will continue to use what I learned at Clayton at work and in life. I will cherish the relationships and friendships that have been made. God Bless.

Thank you,
Daundra
