

Post-Masters Certificate

Family Nurse Practitioner

For RNs holding a Master of Science in Nursing or higher

- Transfer credit may be applicable
- Exceptional faculty committed to student success
- State-of-the-art distance education technologies
- Full-time or part-time progression
- Exposure to international health issues
- Small faculty/student ratio

Nurse Practitioner Courses

- NURS 5410 - Pathophysiology for Advanced Practice Nurses (3)
- NURS 6640 - Pharmacology for Advanced Practice Nurses (3)
- NURS 6611 - Diagnostic and Clinical Reasoning for Advanced Practice Nurses (3)
- NURS 6620 - Advanced Health Assessment (3)
- NURS 6670 - Advanced Practice Nursing Roles in Society* (3)
- NURS 5600 - Health Care Policy (3)

Nurse Practitioner Clinical Courses

- NURS 6630 - Health Promotion and Problems of Adults and their Families (6)
- NURS 6650 - Health Promotion of Children and their Families (6)
- NURS 6680 - Health Promotion and Problems of the Elderly and their families (5)
- NURS 6690 - Nursing Practitioner Practicum (5)

Electives

- NURS 5999 - Independent Study (Variable 1-6)

Credit Hours: 40+; Clinical/Lab Hours: 585

Career Opportunities

- Provide primary care in health clinics, medical offices and managed care settings
- Choose specialty settings in urgent care, occupational health, women's health and acute care
- Work in governmental agencies, clinical research, education and public health
- Teach or practice at institutions of higher learning

WHAT OUR GRADUATES SAY...

- "Professors were accessible and engaging even with the online setting. I felt very supported and mentored; particularly during the final thesis development and defense stage. I was able to graduate on time and advance in my profession with the awarded MSN degree." – Colleen, RN-MSN
- "It was such a great honor to be part of this program. The instructors are the greatest I have encountered, which makes learning a great experience. I would highly recommend anyone that would love to further their nursing career to attend the MSN program." – Marjorie, RN-MSN
- "Clayton State University was my first choice. I have grown professionally and personally." – Monay, RN-MSN