Reason for Policy:

Clayton State University is an institute of higher education involved in education, and community development. In order for Clayton State to educate its foreign and domestic students both in class and on-line, engage in world-class research, and provide community services, it is essential and necessary, and Clayton State has a lawful basis, to collect, process, use, and/or maintain the personal data of its students, employees, applicants, research subjects, and others involved in its educational, research, and community programs. These activities include, without limitation, admission, registration, delivery of classroom, on-line, and study abroad education, grades, communications, employment, applied research, development, program analysis for improvements, and records retention.

Clayton State takes seriously its duty to protect the personal data it collects or processes. In addition to Clayton State's overall data protection program, the European Union General Data Protection Regulation ("EU GDPR") imposes obligations on entities, like Clayton State, that collect or process personal data about people in the European Union \("EU"\). The EU GDPR applies to personal data Clayton State collects or processes about anyone located in the EU, regardless of whether they are a citizen or permanent resident of an EU country. Among other things, the EU GDPR requires Clayton State to:

1. be transparent about the personal data it collects or processes and the uses it makes of any personal data
2. keep track of all uses and disclosures it makes of personal data
3. appropriately secure personal data

This policy describes Clayton State's data protection strategy to comply with the EU GDPR.
