General Information

The Year in Review

Clayton State University's thirty-eighth year was one of growth and achievement. Three new buildings are currently under construction and slated to be open in August 2008. These three buildings include a new Residence Hall with all of the amenities for 441 students, a Student Activity Center, and a new School of Business building. The School of Business building will house faculty, a capstone business laboratory, and the Small Business Development Center. All three buildings will add considerable space for students. A new outdoor amphitheatre near Swan Lake will provide space for student productions as well as a nice place to enjoy the beauty of the campus.

This past year marked many academic firsts for the University:

August 2007 -- American Bar Association accreditation approval for associate degree and post baccalaureate certificate programs in Paralegal Studies.

August 2007 -- Board of Regents approves a new Baccalaureate degree in Sociology

August 2007 -- Clayton State Holds Groundbreaking Ceremony for Student Housing and Activities Center
