

SACS Interim Report

Assessing Effectiveness - Honors Program

The effectiveness of the Honors Program can be measured by several things:

- a) The number of students in the program each semester.
- b) The number of students taking either honors sections of courses or fulfilling honors course contracts.
- c) The amount of service hours amassed by honors students each semester.
- d) The number of honors students who graduate each year.

Honors Program, Clayton State University: 2009

Category	Spring	Fall
Number of Honors Students	70	59
Number of students enrolled in Honors sections of courses	19	13
Number of Honors Students with course contracts	25	17
Number of service hours	900	715
Number of Honors Students who graduated	15	0

e)